

Better than Sweet Dreams

by Jennifer Rhyne

To some, ideal accommodations are the ones that have a bed (with mattress and pillow) and preferably a hot shower. Sure this may be the bare minimums for an evening of rest, but think about all the other things that you could possibly enjoy with a night out of your own home. From lazy views of tumbling ocean waves with the cries of eagles in the distance, to hot, scrumptious breakfasts served right at your doorstep - to perhaps the latest technology including waking up to your favourite tunes on your iPod alarm or viewing the most amazing flat screen television right in front of your two person bubbling Jacuzzi - it's the amenities in your accommodations that turn a night's sleep into a vacation experience.

Your accommodations not only aid your rest (so that you can enjoy your day's sightseeing activities to the maximum), but they enhance your vacation experience to suit your personality. Vancouver, Coast & Mountains offers a wide range of accommodations to appeal to every traveller - even if you have discerning tastes! The romance seekers will enjoy any of the quaint, oceanfront B&B's on the breathtaking Sunshine Coast, like C-Breezes B&B, A Place by the Sea B&B, or Beach Hideaway in Sechelt. Or perhaps you may find romance at the beautiful, grandeur hotels in Greater Vancouver, such as The Wedgewood Hotel, The Listel Vancouver or The Sutton Place.

The nature lovers can relax and be at one with the woods at a rustic wilderness lodge like Callaghan Country Lodge or the Backcountry Adventure Club Lodge in Sea to Sky County, which is also home to luxurious resorts in Whistler, such as Adara Hotel or The Four Seasons Resort. The thrill seekers can enjoy tent cabins and hot tubs at one of the region's whitewater headquarters, such as Kumsheen Rafting Resort or REO Rafting Resort in Mighty Fraser Country. And of course there are also plenty of more traditional rooms throughout the entire region. No matter where you sleep on your next getaway, keep in mind that your accommodations don't have to include just a bed and a shower. Get creative as you plan your next vacation and customize your home away from home in Vancouver, Coast & Mountains.
